TOMATOES :60

Sounds of cafeteria. Brown bag crumpling.

SHIRA: Yech (any sort of “yuck” “blech”…sound)
MARSI: What?
SHIRA: This tomato.
-It tastes like tomato-tinged styrofoam.
-It has no taste …it’s like soggy styrofoam.

MARSI: Here...I’ve got lots of cherry tomatoes. Have some.

SHIRA: Mmmmmm…now this is a tomato! Where did you buy these?

MARSI: I grew them at home. Remember I told you I bought a hydroponic system from Light Green Water. I grew practically everything in his salad. The lettuces, cucumbers, peppers… I’m also growing medical plants.

SHIRA: I had a little kitchen garden a few years back but between the bunnies, birds and bugs, I lost a lot. And the growing season was so short.

MARSI: That’s the benefit of indoor growing. No matter the time of year, the temperature, or the bugs in your yard, you get the most delicious, healthy plant because you’re providing the nutrient and light in a pest free environment… getcha a bumper crop.

SHIRA: Where do I go? Who do I talk to?

MARSI: Go to Light Green Water on M-59 in Waterford!

VO ANNOUNCER: With grow lights and nutrients from Light Green Water, you can adjust and improve the taste of any plant in an environment where the seasons are at your control.
