VO (female, 40ish, mature, sincere, apologetic):

Dear MGM Grand,

We realize you're The Entertainment Authority, and we're feeling guilty.

Seriously guilty, for neglecting our kids this weekend.

I mean, we did aimlessly float down the lazy river, sip manhattans in Rouge, indulge in decadent sashimi at Shibuya, we just forgot to check in with the sitter back home.

Are we bad parents? Or are we just human?

We desperately seek your advice on how best to cope with this guilt.

In the meantime, our selfish behavior will continue one more night.

Sincerely. Meg and Bill Summers.
