

SUPER COLON CLEANSE upsell

One final thing...

Listen: There is another testosterone exterminator keeping you from having the body (and sex life) of a roman God!

A scary 70% of the American population is overweight... Are you one of them?

Excess body fat causes excess estrogen

Estrogen, Testosterone's little sister, is a fat-storing hormone that causes man boobs and beer guts in men.

And I'm sorry to brake to you, but man boobs... not cute!

And guys... the ultimate key to having a lean body without excess body fat is not just about raising testosterone, but also about lowering estrogen.

Even though the right levels of estrogen in men are vital for health harmony when you gain weight levels of estrogen are too high and testosterone runs low.

Weight loss can also be an impossible task if your body doesn't have the right conditions to do so.

Fact is according to Journal American Medical Association 47 million American adults suffer something called "metabolic syndrome" a disorder that includes a beer belly, high blood pressure, high cholesterol and elevated blood sugar.

So what does that mean to you? "Metabolic Syndrome" means your metabolism is slow and making it impossible for you to lose weight. So every day your levels of estrogen are higher and your testosterone is suffering an inevitable death.

You may be wondering... why is my metabolism slow?

Well... Did you know right now you're carrying up 20 extra pounds of rotting junk in your intestines?

Gross but true... years of Big Macs and God knows what other highly processed foods have slowly build up in your intestine causing your whole body to become toxic.

This toxicity also decreases your body's ability to absorb nutrients and makes your metabolism slow as an old lady causing you to get fat, raising your estrogen levels and killing your testosterone.

People with regular bowel movements can carry up to 20 pounds of junk in their colon.

Now, people who regularly suffer from constipation can carry up to 40 pounds or more of undigested fermented foods and rotting fecal matter poisoning your blood and organs and opening the door for all kinds of parasites and worms to nest in your intestines!

A slow metabolism, weight gain and low testosterone alone are a good enough evil mix to kill even the strongest stallion...

Now, let me tell you a little secret... if death starts in the colon, weight-loss does too.

Here's how: You can find the right supplement to target the toxic build up in your intestine, breaking it up, liquefying it and flushing it from the colon and boosting your metabolism in the process.
